#SRCDPreventMaltreatment

Child welfare has been at the forefront of policy in the past year. With the inclusion of Family First Prevention Services Act in the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018, the enactment of SUPPORT for Patients and Communities Act, and the popularity of “trauma-informed” approaches, there are many new opportunities to help ensure children and families receive the best available resources. This special topic workshop will bring interdisciplinary researchers, policymakers, and direct service providers, with expertise in child maltreatment prevention together to understand the state of the field and to explore policymakers and practitioners’ unanswered questions needed to inform their work.

All fees to attend this workshop will be refunded in full, thanks to the generosity of the Doris Duke Fellowships for the Promotion of Child Well-Being! Participants must sign-up and reserve their spot to attend. However, all registration fees will be refunded in full in their original form of payment pending attendance at the event. Please allow three (3) weeks for processing refunds. Deadline to register is 9:00am, Thursday, November 5, 2020.
